

John Deere now largest in irrigation

Submitted by Power Plastics (1911-2005)

John Deere owns three of the largest manufacturers of irrigation systems in the world. The latest acquisition is Plastro Gvat home with Israel. John Deere is now the largest producer in the world, with branches and production companies and representatives in over 120 countries.

The product range is unprecedented. Fog nozzles, more than 15,000 different types of inline drip tubing and a 25 different kinds of drip systems and 10,000 different types of nozzles.

Drippers greenhouse

John Deere has a 100% complete irrigation program, including specially developed for greenhouse 'Supertif' dripper. John Deere in the Netherlands exclusively represented by Power Plastics from Noordwijkerhout, already 30 years active as a technical wholesaler with a fully comprehensive program in the field of irrigation and water treatment.

Power Plastics will soon make agreements with exclusive representatives of John Deere products to distribute in the horticulture sector.